

Sir Winston Churchill: The greatest Briton?

1904 Crossing the floor: Video transcript

But soon the new member fell out with his party over Joseph Chamberlain's policy of Empire preference and protection. Unabashed, he wanted no change in old fiscal systems that he thought were good. So he upped and quit his party and the Liberals welcomed their fierce and famous young recruit.

Extract from BBC obituary of Churchill narrated by Richard Dimbleby