

Casualty lists

Miss Lowellwyn: Sheet after sheet of dead and wounded and missing were in, day after day. And the first thing, to see the papers, and see if there was anyone there whom one knew. It was a very sad time, because the girls had lost their brothers, the boys had lost their older brothers too, and everywhere there was a feeling of great sadness. And somehow, the high hopes that we had had at the beginning seemed dashed.
