

Hospitals

That looks like you're in pain.

It's swollen, but we can't see what might be hurt inside.

We've called an ambulance to take you to the hospital.

The paramedics that drive the ambulance, will see that you arrive safely.

The porter will help us in with a wheelchair.

There are so many different illnesses and injuries, hospitals have lots of people who help. The Nurses and will show you where to go.

This is an X-ray, it lets us see what's inside your leg. Those are the bones.

The doctor has looked at the X-ray and nothing is broken.

It's sprained, so a bit of physio and rest and you'll be great. The physio can help stretch and strengthen parts of our body that might feel weak or sore.

Oh dear, I think we're going to need another X-ray.
