

Do you really need something new?

These children are trying to answer this question. Talk about their answers.

Which do you think are the best reasons to buy something new?
Which are the worst reasons? Do different things need different answers?

I am trying to collect a whole set.

The old one is too small.

I need it to stay healthy.

I got bored with the old one.

It will make me feel happy.

All my friends have one.

The old one is broken.

It would be fun to have it.

Next time you think about buying something new, ask yourself these questions. They can help you work out if you really need something new. Perhaps you could reuse something old instead.
