Róise : Friends, last month my dad decided to go to France for a week's holidays. I wasn't looking forward to it because we live in Donegal and it is a long journey but that is how it was!

Donegal airport is only a mile from our house so we flew to Dublin. The scenery was unbelievable and the journey only lasted twenty minutes. My dad said that it was fairly cheap as well.

When we reached Dublin, my mum had booked a car and we drove straight to the hotel on the outskirts of the city. The following morning we travelled to Rosslare harbour to get the ferry to Le Havre.

Although the car journey was tedious, the opposite was true of the boat journey. I really enjoyed it because there was plenty to do. We were given a lovely meal, we walked around the boat and internet was available so we were able to watch films on the tablet.

I must say that I enjoyed the journey. It wasn't as bad as I thought. On the other hand, my mum was ill and she didn't sleep for two days, I felt sorry for her. But if you're thinking about a trip to France, I would highly recommend the plane and the ferry. Good luck and enjoy your holidays!
