

Éist le Máire ag labhairt faoina pleananna don deireadh seachtaine seo chugainn agus líon na bearnaí leis na focail chuí. (Translation)

Máire : Hello friends, this is me, Máire, again! I have news for you. I was very surprised this morning when the postman came to the door with a letter for me. My Aunt Bríd sent it to me and in the envelope there were two tickets for Ed Sheeran's concert next weekend.

They were a present for my birthday which was last weekend. The concert will take place in Ormeau Park in Belfast on Saturday night at 8. I am excited but I have a problem.

Who will go with me? I have two friends and they love Ed Sheeran and they don't have tickets already. What should I do? My mummy said that I should take my sister Anna with me. What do you all think?

The second problem I have is, what should I wear? I will have to go shopping to the city centre during the week. I can't wait, we will have a great night!
