

Content and Information

- Think about fact vs opinion. Is one video giving more facts and details than the other?
- Are all sides of the story present in each video?

Visuals and Editing

- How do the images, clips and graphics support the information in each video? Are they used fairly?
- Does the editing of the video (cuts, transitions, emphasis) make one side seem more important or credible?

In groups discuss:

Personal Reflection

- Did one video seem more convincing or trustworthy? Why?
- Did you notice any of your own biases while watching the videos?

Language and Tone

- Is the language neutral, or does it seem biased towards one side?
- How does the tone of the presenter affect your view of the information?

Purpose and Audience

- What do you think is the purpose of each video? Are they trying to inform, persuade, or entertain?
- Who is the intended audience for each video? How might this affect the way information is presented?
