

Being Respectful Online

Video transcript for 'Being Respectful Online'.

It's great to be able to talk to family and friends online, but you need to know how to be polite and friendly just like you are at home or school.

Online, you and your friends can chat, play games, send messages and share music.

However, you shouldn't do naughty things you wouldn't normally do in the playground or in the classroom.

Make sure you treat your online friends with respect, just like you would like to be treated yourself.
