

Out of the Dark

Adèle Geras Interview

I've been interested in the First World War for quite a long time, because of course we knew the anniversary was coming up.

And in fact it is a fact that after the war, quite a lot of facially disfigured young men got jobs as projectionists because, of course, they were mostly in the dark.